Provided also that, the provisions contained in the above provisos shall not be applicable in case the authority exercises the powers of revision or review of any order suo motu.”.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Sub-section (1) of section 182 of the Maharashtra Land Revenue Code, 1966 (Mah. XLI of 1966), provides for the power of the Collector to attach land of the defaulter and to take it under management, if it is inexpedient for him to adopt any of the other processes specified for recovery of arrears of land revenue under sections 176 to 181 of the said Code.

Sub-section (4) of the said section 182, provides that the land so attached shall be released from attachment and restored to the defaulter on his making an application to the Collector for that purpose at any time within twelve years from the date of attachment, if at the time that such application is made, it appears that the arrear has been liquidated ; or if the defaulter is willing to pay the balance, if any, still due from him, and shall do so within such period as the Collector may specify in that behalf.

Sub-section (5) of the said section 182 provides that, if no application be made for the restoration of the land within twelve years, or if, after such application has been made, the defaulter fails to pay the balance, if any, still due from him within the period specified by the Collector in this behalf, the Collector may sell the right, title and interest of the defaulter in the land without prejudice to the encumbrances created prior to the attachment of the land ; and shall make over the sale proceeds to the defaulter after deducting therefrom the sum due to the State Government and expenses of the sale.

In order to give the concerned land holder one last opportunity to claim back his attached land before it is sold for recovery of the Government dues, it is considered expedient to amend the said section 182 suitably, so as to provide an option to such land holder to get back his land on payment of the outstanding amount along with interest as per the prevailing orders of the Government and the penal amount prescribed therefor. Such amendment will give solace to hundreds of land holders whose lands were attached in the past for non-payment of arrears of land revenue.

2. The said Code also contains various provisions regarding levy of land revenue, conversion tax, fees, penalty, etc. As per said provisions, various orders are passed by different revenue authorities in respect of matters pertaining to assessment or payment of land revenue, conversion tax, fees, penalty, etc. The persons aggrieved by such orders prefer appeals, revision or review applications before the appellate or revisional or review authorities who while passing interim orders often grant stay to the recovery of such amounts due to the Government. In cases where timely decisions are not taken regarding vacating such stay orders and also if matters are not decided quickly, such amounts due to the Government get stuck for long duration. It is noticed that, on various occasions such appeals, revision or review applications are filed with a view to avoiding or delaying the payment due to the Government as per the orders of the revenue authorities.

It is, therefore, considered expedient to amend section 256 of the said Code, suitably, to provide that where an order against which appeal or application for revision or review is filed involves payment of any amount to the Government, execution of such order shall not be stayed unless the appellant or applicant deposits twenty-five per cent. of such amount payable to the Government under the impugned order, which may be adjusted on passing of final orders.

3. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objectives.
